We Are All Greatly Indebted to Those Who Tell Their Experiences.

Before the arrival of the stork there is much to talk about. The comfort of the expectant mother is the chief topic, and there is sure to be someone who has used or knows of that splendid external help—Mother's Friend.

Nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains and other symptoms so familiar to many women are among the dreaded experiences thousands of mothers say they entirely escape by the use of this famous remedy.

Its influence on the fine network of nerves and ligaments just beneath the skin is wonderful.

By the regular use of Mother's Friend during the period the muscles are made easy, without strain, when baby is born and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is for external use only, is sold by all druggists, and should be used with the utmost regularity. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., P.O. 114 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a valuable and interesting "Motherhood Book."

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written and will be a splendid little text book for guidance, not only for yourself but will make you helpful to others. And in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend from the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort. (Adv.)

ADVOCATES NEW RAILROAD LAWS

Washington, Jan. 21.—Director-General McAdoo told the senate interstate commerce committee today he thought the government should retain operation of the railroads for some time after peace comes and not return them to private ownership until new and comprehensive laws had been enacted to govern them.

Director-General McAdoo denied that he had anything to do with the fuel restriction order. He said he approved of the order and thought it would be very beneficial.

Peace to Bring New Situation
"It should be borne in mind," said Mr. McAdoo, "that by the end of the war the public and shippers will be accustomed to dealing with the government, and I am convinced that a thorough time should be given at the end of the war before the railroads are turned back to their owners."

DEATH REAPS LARGE HARVEST IN CITY AND MILITARY CAMP

DEATH CLAIMS CAPT. WILKEY

Best-Known River Man and Good Citizen Dies Suddenly Sunday.

With startling suddenness, the grim reaper of death entered the home of Capt. Walter Clyde Wilkey, corner of Fourth and Walnut streets, Sunday night and closed forever the page of life of the pioneer river man and highly-esteemed citizen and resident of Chattanooga.

Capt. Wilkey, after spending Sunday evening with his family, went to his room about 10 o'clock, preparatory to retiring for the night. Sharp pains, which increased in their intensity, seized him and he died a few minutes later. When the attack came he realized that the end was near and told his wife and members of the family so. He was conscious upon to the time he died. Heart failure was attributed as the cause of his demise. He had suffered from hardening of the arteries for several months, and the attack of Sunday evening was not the first he had suffered during the past few weeks.

Born near Kingston on Aug. 7, 1853, Walter Clyde Wilkey, when but a youth of 17 years, began his career as a riverman on the Tennessee. He first served as a watchman on a boat that operated between Kingston and points down the river. Through his determined efforts and strict attention to duty, he later became a pilot on one of the largest boats that plied the river. His next ascent along the ladder of success came when he donned a captain's uniform. For a long time he engaged in river service between Kingston and this city.

On Sept. 21, 1880, he married Miss Isabelle Campbell, of Chattanooga. When the Tennessee Transportation company went into bankruptcy, Capt. Wilkey, then captain of its fleet, was appointed by the court as receiver and handled its affairs in such an efficient and capable manner that he was made general manager upon reorganization of the company, which became known as the Tennessee Navigation company. He held this position up to the time of his death.

His career as a riverman extended over more than fifty years, and he played no little part in the development of the Tennessee. Through his intimate knowledge of the river and shipping conditions, water rates for freight shipped to and from Chattanooga were secured.

Probably no riverman from Knoxville to Decatur, Ala., was better known than Capt. Wilkey. He held the confidence, respect and esteem of farmers and shippers all along the Tennessee between these two cities. He liked to give other people who were associated with him much of the credit for things that he actually did himself. He was a man who willingly gave out information concerning the operation of the company's boats and happenings on the river, but preferred to maintain an attitude of silence regarding the successful carrying on of his business.

High tribute to the life and character of Capt. Wilkey is paid by Capt. A. J. Gahagan, who stated that the deceased was a man of wonderful energy, a fine executive, big-hearted, strong enough physically to do almost anything and a man who stuck close to his job. Capt. Gahagan said that Capt. Wilkey never belonged to that class of men who sit in cushioned chairs and tell others what to do, but that he went out and did many of those things himself.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, three children, E. B. and H. K. Wilkey, and Mrs. Frank Wright, all of this city; a brother, C. V. Wilkey, who resides near Kingston; and three sisters, Mrs. Martha Wright, of Oliver Springs; Mrs. Mary Wilson, of La-Crosse, Tex.; and Mrs. J. L. Robinson, of Harriman. Mrs. Della Marney, another sister, died only a few days ago. The captain's parents were Martin and Lettie Wilkey. A large farm was owned and operated by his father near Kingston.

Funeral services over the body of Capt. Wilkey were held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Dr. J. W. Bachman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Dr. E. E. Wiley, pastor of Centenary M. E. church, south, officiated. A large number of members for many years, will officiate. The body will be laid to rest in Forest Hills cemetery.

VETERAN CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

Stricken with paralysis at his home, 458 Oak street, early Sunday evening, William Marshall Hatcher, auditor for the Chattanooga and Tennessee River Power company, and well-known citizen, passed away at 11:15 o'clock. At the time he received the fatal stroke Mr. Hatcher was in conversation with a member of the family. He had not complained during the day, and appeared to be enjoying his usual health.

Surviving him are his wife, two children, Mrs. Anna W. Gore and Miss Lou Fischer Hatcher; a brother, L. B. Hatcher, and two sisters, Misses Mamie and Sallie Hatcher. Mr. Hatcher before his marriage was Miss Louise Haverkamp. Miss Lou Fischer Hatcher is named for her mother's uncle, L. L. Fischer.

The last rites over the body of the deceased will be held at his late residence Tuesday morning at 10. Dr. Loaring Clark, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, will conduct the services, and the interment will take place in Forest Hills cemetery.

Mr. Hatcher was born at Augusta on Oct. 22, 1863, and he located in Chattanooga when the Southern Express headquarters were consolidated. For several years he was with the auditing department of this express company. He resigned his position a few years ago to become auditor for the Chattanooga and Tennessee River Power company. He was one of Chattanooga's best known citizens and residents and had a host of friends in this section, who will be shocked to learn of his sudden death.

The pallbearers will be: Jo Conn, J. F. Peabow, William Rosenheim, Leon H. Bailey, Brown Brantley, J. T. Johnson, Frank Miller and E. F. Fritts.

LAST SAD RITES FOR GOOD WOMAN

The last rites over the body of Mrs. Mary Brown Schofield, who died Sunday at her home in Pikeville, were held at the residence Monday afternoon at 2. Deceased was 84 years of age and the mother of W. A. Schofield, well-known Chattanooga attorney. Members of the Schofield family have come to Pikeville to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Mary Brown Schofield, a native of Tennessee, was one of the oldest persons in the old Volunteer State. Born near Philadelphia, Tenn., on Oct. 12, 1825, she became a resident of Blount county at an early age. Her parents were William Lilly Brown and Nancy Brown. Her husband, William Schofield, passed away almost a quarter of a century ago. This union was blessed with the birth of seven children, two of whom have been laid to rest. The surviving children are: R. B. Schofield, postmaster at Pikeville; Mrs. C. W. Walker, of Oklahoma; Mrs. J. R. Walker, of California; H. Floyd Schofield, of Texas; and W. A. Schofield, of North Chattanooga.

The deceased sustained a stroke of paralysis a few years ago, but soon recovered. With that exception she had always enjoyed good health. She had been a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, for many years. Mrs. Schofield was one of the best known women in Sequatchie valley and Blount county.

BODY WILL BE SENT BACK TO OLD HOME

Funeral services over the body of Benjamin Franklin Lehman, a member of the medical corps, Fifty-third infantry, who died early Saturday morning at Fort Oglethorpe, were held from Chapman's funeral chapel at 2 o'clock afternoon.

The body, accompanied by deceased's mother, Mrs. H. Lehman, of Burbank, S. D., and a sister, Mrs. M. J. Kuchera, of Kimball, S. D., will be sent to Burbank for burial. Members of the medical corps of the Fifty-third infantry will act as an escort when the body is carried to the train.

Young Lehman, just before his eyes closed in eternal sleep, raised his hand in salute and said: "My God, I am in the world. Fifty-third infantry." His mother and sister were with him when the end came.

Deceased was a composer of no little ability and he displayed marked talent as a violinist and pianist. A bright future lay before him, and, endowed with those qualities that make up real, true manhood, he was striving to forge ahead and make a mark in the world.

MARCUS LONG DIES AT ALABAMA HOME

Marcus B. Long, former well-known Chattanooga resident, passed away at 9 o'clock Sunday night at his home in Tuscaloosa, Ala., according to news received here. For a number of years he had been in frail health.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, two sons, Marlow and Eliza, and two daughters, Martha and Eliza. With the exception of Marlow Long, who is a lieutenant in the service of Uncle Sam at Washington, the other members of the family reside at Tuscaloosa.

Marcus B. Long was 64 years of age, and for about forty years had been a resident of this city. He was born here. He had resided in Tuscaloosa for twelve years. For a long time he practiced his civil engineer's profession in Chattanooga, being connected with the United States engineer's office. He engaged in river work here and at Tuscaloosa.

His father, John P. Long, was the first postmaster at Rose Landing, having come here in 1836, some time before the name was changed to Chattanooga. John P. Long served as assessor and tax collector and it was

City Tires Out Its First Heatless Day Program

Chattanooga did not fit the new situation without knocking the corners. All morning of the first heatless Monday there was general confusion. Cigar stands and soft drink dispensaries were most confused. One did not feel the Sunday atmosphere on the streets, and yet the day was altogether different from the average holiday. It was something new. It was a cross between Sunday and a holiday. The restraint could be felt in the air. There was nothing voluntary and spontaneous in the situation. No open grumbling was heard, but many voiced the opinion that the "whole thing ought to get straightened out so a fellow knew where he stood."

Drugstores were open during the day, but the soft drink dispensaries in them were closed. "Coke bibblers" had a hard time keeping their nerves quiet. They thought that since the drugstores were heated anyway the fountains ought to be run and that the order was to save fuel and not carbonated water and syrups. Some of them were violent in their protests when they were refused service. Cigars were scarce. Several smoke-houses were open during the morning, but were heatless. They did a fair business, but precipitated the dislike of the drugstores that had closed according to the spirit of the order as well as the letter.

Although the poolrooms were open, several of them closed the soft drink and cigar departments. Others remained open throughout. All of the pool halls were crowded, but the spirit of the players was somewhat subdued.

All day long coal wagons and trucks could be seen hurrying along with their precious burdens. During Saturday railroads made deliveries that relieved the situation considerably. Late Saturday the shortage was as serious as it had ever been in Chattanooga, and the fuel administrator said that there was no fuel to be used on Monday. Even up until that time there had been some doubt and much confusion about this phase of the heatless day.

Only business necessary to keeping the public alive was open. Grocery stores closed at noon and used the minimum amount of heat during the forenoon. Poolrooms were also using as little heat as possible. Like the theaters, they were allowed to remain open Monday and close Tuesday.

By the time that the next heatless day comes around it is believed that the businesses will have become familiar with the order and that the confusion will have subsided. In all, Chattanooga came through fairly well and there was little or no discomfort. All of the shopping can be done in five days. The only question of any importance is the loss of wages to the employees. When they are paid as usual, the day will be considered a blessing. The moving picture shows will be open to afford amusement, and anything can be done except carry on business.

MUCH COMMENT ON UNITED STORES REMAINING OPEN

There was much comment on the streets about the United Cigar stores staying open today. The buildings were not heated and the fuel administrator said that there was nothing to keep them from selling their goods in a cold house. Drug stores were not allowed to sell soft drinks or cigars, however, though the owners urged that the same heat would allow the sale of other goods. It was said that this ruling was made because they could not take advantage of a warm house to sell articles other than drugs.

CONSTIPATION INVITES DISEASE

A reliable laxative is necessary to the comfort and health of any well-ordered household, because constipation is a condition that affects, in greater or less degree, practically every member of the family. When the bowels refuse to act the entire system is affected; digestion is impaired, nerves begin to twitch, foul gases and poisons generated by decomposing substances in the intestines are distributed throughout the body, and often result in serious illness. A prominent French scientist says ninety-five percent of all human disease is directly traceable to inactive bowels.

More than a quarter of a century ago Dr. W. B. Caldwell prepared a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is now the standard remedy in thousands of homes. This pleasant-tasting, non-habit-forming, and safe remedy is sold by druggists for fifty cents a bottle, under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A trial bottle can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 436 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

You Can Rub and Rub and Rub. But Your Rheumatism Remains.

Liniments by the Gallon Will Never Make a Cure.

If Rheumatism could be cured by rubbing the painful parts with liniments and lotions, there would be no Rheumatism today. For enough liniment has been used by the average sufferer to float his body in. Has his rheumatism been cured? Ask him. Has anything but temporary relief been obtained? Has not the pain promptly returned; so that the old process of rub, rub, rub must begin all over again? Ask anyone who has ever been afflicted with this painful, torturing disease, and they will admit that nothing but temporary relief has ever come from these external applications.

Remove the cause, and there will be no pain. The proper treatment, therefore, is a remedy that purifies the blood. Scores of sufferers say that S. S. S. has cleaned their blood of Rheumatism, by removing all trace of the disease from their system. If you wish to intelligently treat Rheumatism, go to your druggist today and get a bottle of S. S. S., take it as directed and you will soon be on the way back to perfect health. Then if you want any special instructions, write our physician all about your symptoms, and he will give you all necessary instructions regarding your own case, for which no charge is made. LIBERTY BREAD POPULAR

The unusual interest manifested in our offer of prizes for Liberty Bread with Seedless Raisins has proved that Seedless Raisins Improve All Bread.

The request of our Government that all Americans save wheat to send abroad has made it necessary to devise Liberty Breads of various kinds. Some are made of wheat flour and cornmeal; some of wheat and rice. Others are mixtures of wheat flour with rye, barley, oatmeal or potatoes.

SUN-MAID SEEDLESS RAISINS

improve all these breads tremendously and give added food value. Even the cheapest of the Liberty Breads are made delicious and most palatable when these delicious Seedless Raisins are added.

You need not bake your own Liberty Raisin Bread. Order it from your baker or through your grocer.

STOP THAT CATARRH WITH VIN HEPATICA

Right at this time of year there is more danger from catarrh and colds than most any other trouble. You get out and get your feet wet, expose yourself to cold, and then first one way and another, the first thing you know catarrh has set in, and, if not stopped, may lead to tuberculosis or something equally as bad.

Best for you to do how is to get a bottle of Vin Hepatica, the great Universal System Purifier and Tonic, and have it ready to take at the very beginning of even the slightest cold. It acts at once on the mucous membrane, cleanses and tones up the vital organs of the body, enables them to perform their natural functions of throwing off disease.

Come in and get a bottle, on our recommendation. We back it with our reputation.
